

Cookie Policy

What is a cookie?

Cookies are small text files which are sent to your device when you visit a website. Cookies are then sent back to the originating website on each subsequent visit, or to another website that recognises that cookie. Cookies act as a memory for a website, allowing that website to remember your device on your return visits. Cookies can also remember your preferences, improve the user experience as well as tailor the adverts you see to those most relevant to you.

How to refuse or withdraw consent to the use of cookies?

If you do not wish for cookies to be installed on your device, you can change the settings on your browser or device to reject cookies. For more information about how to reject cookies using your internet browser settings please visit the "Help" section of your internet browser. You can also go to www.aboutcookies.org to find out more. Please note that, if you do set your Internet browser to reject cookies, you may not be able to access all of the functions of the site.

If you want to remove previously-stored cookies, you can manually delete the cookies at any time. However, this will not prevent the site from placing further cookies on your device unless and until you adjust the cookie setting of your Internet browser as described above.

If you do choose to disable cookies, this choice will only apply to the device you are using at the time. If you want to stop cookies being set on other devices, you will need to follow the relevant steps on each device.
